

Casey's Concertina

Original Words by C Fox Smith

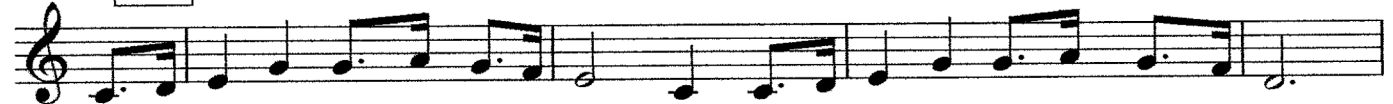

Musical Setting by Joy Rennie 2002

Introduction

4

Verse

There 're lights a - flash - in' in the har - bour, From the ships at an - chor where they ride
There's a mil - ky gli - mmer on the wa - ter An' the lone - ly gli - tter of the stars

9

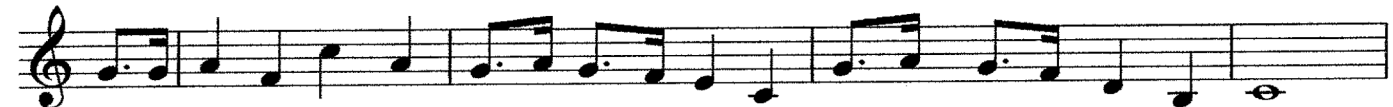

An' a dry wind blow - in' through the palm trees An' the long, low mur - mur of the tide.
An' a light breeze blow - in' up the road - stead An' a voice a - sigh - in' in the spars

14

An' th's noise an' laugh - ter in the fo'c - s'l An' the bare feet bea - tin' out the tune
A - a sigh - in', cry - in' in the back - stays, An' the sails all sleep - in' o - ver head

19

To the sound of Ca - sey's lea - ky con - cer - ti - na Un - der - neath the great, gold moon.
An' the sound of Ca - sey's lea - ky con - cer - ti - na, Sing - in' of a time that's fled.

24

Chorus

Ca - sey's lea - ky, crea - ky con - cer - ti - na, Un - der - neath the great, gold moon,

28

Ca - sey's lea - ky, crea - ky con - cer - ti - na, Squee - zin' out the same old tune - .